

Resilience in New Mexico Agriculture

March 9th, 2016

Time: 9:00am

Tucumcari Convention Center

Join us to discuss your best ideas for ensuring a robust food and agriculture system in New Mexico.

Register today for a Resilience in New Mexico Agriculture Regional Meeting.

It takes a diverse network of farmers, ranchers, processors, distributors and market organizers to make a difference in the future of agriculture.

Who Should Attend?

- Farmers & ranchers
- Commercial producers & marketers (e.g., process, store, distribute or market agricultural products)
- Educators & researchers
- Government employees (e.g., extension agent, water and environmental policy, food safety, etc.)
- Financial lenders & grant makers (e.g., banker or philanthropist)
- Advocates
- Policymakers
- Consumers

Registration

There is no registration fee, but space is limited and food needs to be ordered, so reserve your seat now! Lunch will be provided. To register and learn more, go to the meeting website at <http://nmfirst.org/events/resilience-in-new-mexico-agriculture>.

Questions? Contact us 505-225-2140 or info@nmfirst.org.

The meetings are convened by New Mexico First and New Mexico State University-Cooperative Extension Service.

New Mexico State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and educator. NMSU and the U.S. Department of Agriculture cooperating. If you are an individual with a disability who is in need of an auxiliary aid or service, please contact the Quay County Extension Office at 575-461-0562 by March 4, 2016.